

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

This invention, a system of eyewear without sidepieces and employing a noseclip, nosepiece, or nosebridge which can apply enough pressure to a person's nose to retain an article of eyewear without sidepieces to a person's head, is both more comfortable to wear and more aesthetically pleasing than many forms of current eyewear.